Historical Background of "Ishpeming, MI".

The name "Ishpeming" originates from the Ojibwe word meaning "on the summit." The city was founded in 1854 as a mining town during the height of the iron ore industry. The discovery of the Marquette Iron Range brought a flurry of economic activity, transforming the region into a bustling hub for mining operations.

Ishpeming quickly attracted settlers from various parts of the world, especially Scandinavians, who played a significant role in the city's cultural heritage. The mining industry prospered, and Ishpeming became one of the most prominent iron ore producers in the United States.
